ROYALTY continued

but was not required to perform her talent. She learned the song during the Shoshone Community Language Initiative over the summer, at Great Basin College. "SCLI affected me in a positive way, every weekend we went to new historical Shoshone sites. It was interesting to learn about the history we didn't read in text books." She plans to attend the summer program again, next year.

Esaw began her dancing career at a young age. She tried fancy shawl for a short time, then returned to competing in the jingle dress category.

She was also chosen, by the committee, to be the Head Lady dancer during the Saturday night session, where she and the Head Man dancer, Tristin Ike, were required to lead the dancers onto the floor during intertribals, and Grand Entry. They also danced to an honor song, where they displayed their skills, which showed why they were chosen for their duties.

When royalty is selected, they are often expected to travel to different pow-wows and represent their tribes. Esaw is planning to attend the Nevada Day Pow-Wow, in Carson City, and the Veteran's Day Pow-Wow, in Carson City.

"I'm looking forward to traveling to new pow-wows and meeting new people along the way," said Esaw.

When asked what having this title means to her, Esaw replied, "It means being more of a leader, to the younger girls and boys, representing my tribe and being proud of who I am as a Native American."

She plans to continue learning about her culture and Shoshone language. She also plans to become more involved in her community, and with elders and the younger generation.

Esaw continued, "I just want to keep the culture going, and keep it strong, practice the culture more, and make it known, that we are still here."

Esaw is the daughter of Lillian Kelly Collins and Barry Esaw, both of Elko. Her maternal grandparents are Arloa Kelly of Owyhee, and the late Gladden Kelly, also of Owyhee. Her paternal grandmother is Ruby Esaw.

Note: Brianna's sister, Da'Shalyne Esaw, held the title of Miss Sho-Pai Queen 2014-2015.

gon, Washington, and Idaho. It was good to see many of our own Elko people dancing.

Congratulations to the New Royalty for the 2017-18. We know you will represent well this coming year! They are:

Elko Band Pow Wow Princess - Brianna Esaw daughter of Lillian Kelly & Barry Esaw. Brianna wrote, "If I don't know where I come from, then I will lose some of my identity. My culture always made me confident, and has always made me appreciate my life I have today. I know my culture shaped me into who I am today."

Elko Band Little Princess - Aurelia Maranan daughter of Melody and Chester Maranan. She wrote, "I am proud of who I am".

Elko Band Little Tot - Jessa Meshell daughter of Memory Abe and Sammy Meshell. Jessa says, "I love Pow Wows".

Elko Band Little Brave - Raiden Little Thunder Sam, son of Maylene and Jason Sam. He is a Jr. Boys Northern Traditional Dancer. He wrote, "I am happy and proud, because I can dance and pray for my family."

On behalf of the Elko Band Pow Wow Committee, we would like to thank the Te-Moak communities and others who attended this years event, and invite you back for the 26th Elko Band Pow Wow, in October 2018. Come dance, sing, and enjoy the company of others...

Gift aid is defined as a federal Pell Grant, a federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG), a Silver State Opportunity Grant (SSOG), or a Governor Guinn Millennium Scholarship (GGMS).

The Nevada Promise Scholarship can provide for up to three years of coverage of registration fees and other mandatory fees to eligible students not covered by other gift aid, subject to appropriation.

If there are not sufficient funds available for all eligible scholarship applicants, students will be awarded in order of the date the application was received.
